FOREWORD

Wishing to perpetuate the friendly atmosphere of this community, and desiring to hold in memory the many happy days spent in Cedarville High School, we, the seniors, present this "Cedarscope" to you, our fellow students and readers. In carrying out our theme "friendship", we have endeavored to make those memories more real, lifelike, and lasting.

To the friends and patrons of Cedarville High School, who, through their interest and co-operation in school affairs, have aided in maintaining our high standards, we, the members of the Class of 1937 gratefully dedicate this book.

THE SCHOOL

Supervising various school enterprises, maintaining discipline in the entire school, and aiding the faculty and students at all times are some of the things performed successfully by our superintendent, Mr. Furst.

He is constantly seeking to improve our school in every way. His interest and enthusiasm in every department of student activities inspires all to do their best. Scholastic, athletic, and vocational subjects form our superintendent's idea of a perfect school. Thus, through his leadership, the school progresses daily.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Friends and patrons of the school have chosen high-minded, capable citizens to compose the Cedarville Board of Education. These people, who have the interests of the school at heart, have done much to create in the Cedarville school an efficient, pleasant, and friendly atmosphere. Through the efforts of this group in co-operation with Superintendent H. D. Furst, many new projects were introduced in the school.

Mr. William Ferguson, who had served several successful terms on the board of education, passed away in January. Mr. John W. Collins has been appointed to carry out Mr. Ferguson's term.

MISS RIFE

To whom does everyone go with ques-questions and troubles? The answer is —Miss Rife.

Miss Rife, the principal of our high school, is indeed the friend of each pupil. It is a busy school year for our principal. The beginning of the school brings registration cards, and it is no easy task to see that the pupils get their schedules correctly made.

In the spring, class plays and the senior test take place, and by her supervision, students win recognition in scholastic and dramatic fields. Miss Rife also finds time to teach her Latin classes.

The students unite in expressing their gratitude to Miss Rife for her wonderful understanding and encouragement.

Miss Dorothy Nelson, who is Mr. Furst's efficient secretary, plays an important part in keeping the school and office running smoothly.

Miss Margaret Little is the typist, secretary, and assistant in the sight-saving room.

OUR FACULTY

I should like to tell a story
Of dear old C. H. S.
Yes, of this grand old school
And the faculty, I guess.

Mr. Furst, who superintends
Is a fine man, as you know
He makes the announcements,
Since they installed the radio.

To the next we take our troubles
Of them there is no end.
This one is our own Miss Rife
Our principal and friend.

Then comes Math, so we can add
Numbers, as three and five
Mrs. Wilson, a good math Prof.
Knows more than you and I.

Of course we must have English
To make our speech the best,
The teacher is Mrs. Edwards
And we give her little rest.

Miss Robe, also Miss Lope
Came to us just last year
A typist and an English teacher
Their words we like to hear.

Miss Hanna directs the seventh grade
And helps recall the date
That is, the ancient one; not modern
Which comes at half past eight.

Mr. Deem, our chemist is
He plans his work each day
At noon shows us pictures
And keeps us from our play.

Mr. Orr, our coach,
Brings our school to fame
As do the boys and girls who play
In exciting high school games.

Next comes our agriculturist
Who helps those on the farm.
Now that man's name is Mr. George
If you're good, he'll do you no harm.

Mr. Warner, our Home Ec. teacher
Will always be the same.
Even if she hies in summer
And comes back with a different name.

What would we do without our band,
With colors red and white?
And Mr. Reed, our director,
Who works with all his might?

After all, our school is best
One of which we all are proud.
Were I to mention all who agree
You know there'd be a crowd.

Let us strive to make it better
Then let us make it best
Keep striving on forever
And never let us rest.

A. B.

MR. BARLOW

Mr. Barlow has efficiently served his first year as janitor of our school. By his efforts, our school has been made a brighter and more cheerful spot.

Miss Chandler (Miss Ruth) says her little dears,
Is the tiny first graders' delight.
She quiets all of their little fears,
And sees they're started out right.

Miss Allen too, is quite nice, so they say.
She keeps her room so pretty and neat.
Sometimes with her pupils she loves to play,
They think that she is really sweet.

The third graders believe Miss Trumbo's the best.
She helps them to read and to spell.
Although sometimes she does give a test,
They all seem to love her quite well.

Over the fourth grade does Miss Haworth reign,
A kingdom of brunettes, redheads and blondes,
The highest grades they try to attain
As they gather together with friendship bonds.

Miss Reeder the next one in our school,
Likes to teach reading and grammar.
Her pupils have to learn many a rule,
And they never stutter nor stammer.

Miss Lewis really has lots of work
For her charges go upstairs next year,
She has to see their work they don't shirk
And her explanations are clear.

The Special Room is Mrs. Halstead's.
She gives her pupils aid and care;
Many books to them she has read,
And teaches them to be courteous and fair.

With her pupils Mrs. Aultman strives
To help them save their needed eyes,
She also sees that each Jack and Jill
Pays to her his cafeteria bill.

IN MEMORIAM

In the passing of Mr. William B. Ferguson, the community of Cedarville lost one of its best citizens. He was a faithful member of the Cedarville Board of Education for nine years. He was a loving father, a true friend, and an earnest church member. His monument lies in the service he rendered for all and his influence will not soon be forgotten.

THE CLASSES

THE friendship of the classes of Cedarville High School is evident in their relations with each other. This feeling of friendliness and enthusiasm is largely due to the common loyalty and devotion each person feels for Cedarville High School. Each senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman is anxious for the advancement of the entire school unit from the first grade on through the twelve grades. Without this feeling of comradeship the school enterprises could not have been the successes that they have been.

May the classes continue to have this feeling of mutual interest and Cedarville High School will be finer and more pleasant than it already is.

THE SENIOR CLASS

OUR OFFICERS

Senior officers meet to discuss a class affair with the Principal, Miss Rife. Justin Northup, the President, has a suggestion to make. The Secretary, Alberta Smith, is ready to make a record of it—Doris Ramsey, news reporter, can think of a clever way to present it to the public—Laurence Fulkerson, Treasurer, is sure it will be a financial success. Harold Hanna, Vice-President, is absent.

IN September of 1925, forty-six little boys and girls came toddling along rather undecided, but at least happy. To almost any on-looker, I suppose we looked just the same as all other first graders who had started to school in the last ten years. But deep in our own small hearts, we were full of pride and we assumed an air of importance.

We know those poor grade teachers looked at us with a sigh of discouragement, and now we want to offer regrets for the trouble we have caused. But we were young and we were learning and we hope to be forgiven.

Of course, some have been discouraged in trying to carry out the high ideal we set for ourselves, some have lingered by the way, some have only half completed that ideal, but the ones who are graduating now are happy, satisfied and much wiser than they were in that first grade class twelve years ago.

We saw, we heard, we learned. We saw the worries and hardships small children must experience. We saw pains and heartaches and the happy and unhappy days. We saw some of our friends fall by the way-side, some of them forge ahead. We saw all kinds of sickness, we saw vaccinations, examinations and spankings. But from our teachers we learned how to prepare ourselves to be grown-up men and women.

And now years have passed and the calendar says "nineteen hundred thirty-seven." No longer are we small children, but instead youth joined in a happy circle making friends and still planning.

All of our years at Cedarville have been a pleasure. They have been filled with lectures, movies, dances, parties, athletics, and interesting and profitable class work.

Some have become famous as basketball players, baseball players, and track men, and others have shown their amazing dramatic ability in our class plays. Even though we might mention each individual, it would not show one-half the appreciation and pride we feel for our class mates.

But as we, "the class of nineteen hundred thirty-seven" bring to a close our last year at Cedarville, we feel we can truthfully say that even though we have not been perfect in all our studies, we have done much to develop and improve our characters.

On a sunny morning early in September, 1934, sixty-five "freshies" trooped up the steps to the freshmen home rooms which were in charge of Mr. Reed and Mr. Orr. Many of the freshmen did not know the rules of the school but within a short time they understood the demerit system and began to fit in harmoniously with the other members of the high school. The sophomores did not follow the Golden Rule very closely when they initiated the freshmen but later they gave a wiener roast in honor of the freshmen as a peace offering.

The following year all the members of the class returned but before the year was over the total number of sophomores had decreased. Mrs. Wilson and Miss Lope were class advisers and under their supervision the sophomores progressed. This year the sophomores were allowed to dictate to the freshmen on "Freshie Day" but they entertained them at a party afterwards to get back in good standing.

Much to the surprise of the class in 1936 they found their number to be only forty-five but in spite of their decreased number, they made progress. Early in the spring the juniors under the direction of their principal, Miss Rife, presented the play, "Welcome Home." The proceeds of the play were used to entertain the honorable seniors at a banquet in May.

For the past three years the basketball teams have taken several players from this class. The scholarship teams of former years have also found valuable material in this class who had Mrs. Edwards and Miss Robe as home room advisers in 1936.

M. A. W.

In September of 1936, over sixty sophomores or "Wise Fools" entered the ranks of C. H. S. With the assistance of our advisers, Mrs. Wilson and Mr. George, we organized our class with Marcella Martindale, President; Beatrice O'Bryant, Vice President; Herman Lewis, Secretary; Donald Brewer, Treasurer, and Helen Andrew, News Reporter.

Our class contributed Irene Eckman, Marcella Martindale, and Carrie Stewart to the girls' basketball team and Jay Peterson and Jack Preston to the boys' team. The majority of the members of the boys' reserve team are from the sophomore class. We are proud of these sophomores who helped make this year's basketball season a success.

Eight from our class are members of the orchestra and two are in the band.

We are very sorry to lose two from our class roll, Geneva Shutts and Marcella Martindale.

Our class hopes to carry on the remainder of our high school term and continue to do the best that we can to make C. H. S. still better!

FRESHMEN

Trying to find classes, getting instructions from Miss Hanna, receiving dark looks from the Seniors, who conducted themselves with dignity (or so they thought), and making everyone's life miserable—these were the antics of the present freshman class when they were seventh graders.

One recollection is students patting themselves on the back when they had received no demerits for the first week, only to find the teachers were not giving demerits that week.

Entering the eighth grade, gave us, so we thought, a right to look down upon the noisy seventh graders.

We are now freshmen and enjoy our high school life immensely, and we are looking forward to the time when we as seniors can look down upon the rest of the school.

EIGHTH GRADE

At the beginning of the school year our class elected the following officers: President, Keith Wright; Vice President, Wallace Bradfute; Treasurer, Martha Kreitzer; and Secretary, Wanda Hughes.

During the year we have had three class parties. Good food was served and all had a good time.

In the second semester our civics class organized the "Cedarville Civics Club." Wanda Hughes was elected president. At the meetings the club members discussed topics taken from the "Every Week," a current event paper we subscribed for at the beginning of the year.

Our class has seven members in the band, four in the orchestra, and three in the brass sextet.

In the class tournament, the eighth grade defeated the seventh grade and freshmen before we were defeated in the finals by the sophomores.

We are looking forward to being initiated into the freshman class next year.

SEVENTH GRADE

Early in September the members of the seventh grade organized their class by electing officers. The pupils selected were as follows: President, Lois Brown; Vice President, Jeanne Wright; Secretary, Frances Koppe; News Reporter, Marceil Detty.

On December 22 our class party was held in the high school gymnasium. This was an event enjoyed by all.

An Amateur Club was organized by the English class on March 7. This club has taught us many things. Besides gaining experience in conducting business meetings, we also had interesting programs consisting of plays and games.

Our class has enjoyed its first year in junior high very much, and we are looking forward to more good times.

SIXTH GRADE

In our room we have several members of the high school band and orchestra. We are proud to say that Ruth Ramsey went to Greenville with the high school orchestra to play in a contest.

Under the direction of Mr. Reed, the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades gave the operetta, "Mother Goose and Company." We enjoyed preparing and giving it.

This is the first year we have had art in Cedarville school. We have enjoyed making decorations for our room for the different seasons of the year.

FIFTH GRADE

We have done many interesting things this year.

We have had picture shows about some of the lessons which we have studied.

The fourth, fifth, and sixth grades have published a newspaper this year.

In English class we have been writing and presenting plays. Some have been presented in other rooms and some over the radio system.

We have been having art class under the direction of Miss Haworth. This has proved to be very interesting to most of the class.

FOURTH GRADE

The fourth grade has a newspaper staff. We give reports to the other grades, who look over our work and put the best ones in the paper.

This year we have been writing plays. We gave the "Easter Bunny" by Harold Stormont. We also played "White Flower."

We have been studying about Ohio in history. We found the study of our state very interesting.

THIRD GRADE

We are the boys and girls you saw helping in the Christmas Operetta. We did our best so Santa would visit us.

This year we made English booklets which contained original poems, stories, and a poem we had learned.

We also made a picture show and health posters in Hygiene and carried out an Indian sand-table project in Reading.

We enjoy seeing the noon picture shows and playing ball on the gym floor very much.

SECOND GRADE

From nine o'clock until three-thirty each day, we are a small kingdom of thirty-three second grade subjects — blondes, brunettes, and redheads. From the moment we enter our classroom a very interesting day begins.

For a few minutes each day we listen to talks of what has happened since three-thirty the afternoon before. More enjoyment is gained by the children from these narrations than from the actual adventures.

We have tried to permeate our room with the warmth of good fellowship, fun, affection, and the desire to progress.

FIRST GRADE

We are the First Grade of the Cedarville Public Schools. Since that first day in September we have learned many things not the least of which is how to work and play together happily.

Through the kind cooperation of other teachers in the system our reading has been motivated and made most enjoyable, for when we read well we are given an opportunity to read stories from our library books to other grades. From among our many other activities we choose this as one of the most outstanding and helpful things we do.

BOOK THREE

ACTIVITIES

"VARIETY is the spice of life" so goes an old saying, and variety is the spice of our school. We have a varied program of activities from which to choose. Each department represented is under the supervision of a faculty member. The F. F. A. chapter is the newest activity introduced in the school. For this group, which has grown rapidly, the local W. P. A. has erected a new building behind our main building. Hand in hand with the F. F. A. are the Home Economics girls; and these, although they do not have a new building, enjoy a modern kitchen. Studies are not forgotten! Students yearly earn local and district honors by competing in scholarship contests. Our outstanding music department is divided into many different organizations. We must not forget the annual staff, which is doing much to revive interest in year books. All are saying, "Onward, with our school activities."

FAMILIAR FACES of friends, activities, and functions of school life have been brought to us through the 1937 Cedarscope.

The staff was chosen early in the year after the Senior class of 1937 expressed a desire to have a year book. Subscription and advertising campaigns were soon begun and the responsibility of selling the Cedarscope to students and merchants was of vital importance for through this means the book was financed.

The co-editors had the big task of assembling the book, correcting copy and planning how and where each of the copies was to be placed. The other editors have worked harmoniously in compiling the material for the book and they have derived a great deal of satisfaction and pleasure in making the 1937 Cedarscope possible.

The staff wishes to thank Mrs. Edwards, Miss Rife, and Miss Robe for their help as English critics.

The Omega Chapter of the National Honor Society was founded in Cedarville High School in 1932. Each year the upper fifteen per cent of the senior class is chosen by the high school faculty to be members of this organization. Scholarship, leadership, service, and character are considered in this choice.

At the annual initiation service, held this year on March 23, the following new members were initiated: Elisabeth Anderson, Marie Collins, Warren Elam, Laurence Fulkerson, Elizabeth Funsett, Dorothy Galloway, Juanita Harper, Neil Hartman, Doris Ramsey, Betty Rowe, and Betty Swango.

The officers—president, Geneva Clemans; vice-president, Juanita Harper; and secretary and treasurer, Elisabeth Anderson—were elected for the incoming year.

Members of the society are Leola Griffin, Carma Hostetler, Julia McCallister, Esther Waddle, Dorothy Anderson, Frances Hutchison, Ruth Kimble, Mary Margaret McMillan, Harriet Ritenour, James Anderson, Rachel Creswell, Christina Jones, Janice Miller, Edna Sipe, Jane Frame, Justin Hartman, Elinor Hughes, Cletis Jacobs, Frances Kimble, Betty Tobias, Harold Benedict, Geneva Clemans, Pauline Ferguson, Rebecca Galloway, Elmeda Harris, Mabel Turner, and Charles Whittington.

PHOTOGRAPHY club, a new activity this year, was organized by Mr. Deem in order to interest the students in the worthwhile hobby of developing and printing pictures.

Each member of the club bought his own equipment and was instructed in its use by Mr. Deem during the meetings which were held at the school. They discussed the correct methods of taking pictures and then took some indoor shots. After the pictures were taken, the members learned how to develop and print them.

With a few exceptions, the members are all in high school at the present time. Those exceptions are Mrs. Helen Jacobs, Robert Fitzwater, and James Anderson.

Here's to a bigger and better club next year!

Music has never wanted for student support at Cedarville High, and the Girls' Glee Club has been one of the most popular musical organizations. This group has met once each week to study music appreciation, and through group songs the girls have become familiar with the technique of reading musical scores. This year the aim of the group has been to achieve a degree of perfection in their songs.

The Girls' Glee Club is organized with the following persons as officers: President, Betty Rowe; Secretaries, Mary Jean Townsley, Juanita Harper, and Helen Andrews.

THIS year a boys' glee club was organized to fill a long-felt need in our school program. We had three major objectives in view: first, to provide a chance for musical development; second, to develop a performance group of which the school might well be proud; and third, to benefit by the growth of those social traits whose development is dependent upon group participation in a worthwhile enterprise.

We believe the results have justified the effort extended. We are hoping that this year's experience is but the stepping stone to a fuller realization of these goals in years to come.

The band this year completed its second season and may justly be proud of the progress made both in musicianship and as a marching organization. Again it proved itself a colorful organization and a useful one. It played at all home basketball games, for various other school functions, and attempted to reward the local community for its generous support by playing at various civic projects.

The band regrets the loss of the following members by graduation: Betty Rowe, Robert Beatty, Bill Aiken, John Fudge, Laurence Fulkerson, and Clark Post. They were loyal and capable musicians and their places will be hard to fill.

The band is looking forward with anticipation for even greater success in the coming year. To its present membership whose worth has been proved, will be added a fine group of young musicians trained in the instrumental classes and the junior orchestra.

ONE of the most progressive organizations in the school is our orchestra. Under the direction of Mr. Reed, the orchestra has played for the Junior Class Play, College Junior Class Play, Grade Operettas, and Boy's Hobby Fair. This group entered the District Contest and Song Festival held at Greenville and played well. Although not successful in winning, the orchestra is determined to do better next year.

In order to become a member of the orchestra, one must belong to either the string ensemble or the band. The entire personnel of this organization includes thirty-seven musicians and the director. The purpose is to promote greater interest in music and musical instruments.

The orchestra is composed of the following pieces: seven first violins; seven second violins, two violas, one cello, one bass viol, four clarinets, four saxophones, three cornets, two trombones, two baritones, one tuba, two drums, and one piano. This advancing friendly orchestra is sure to succeed.

Sewing, cooking, and interior decorating are the projects discussed by this group of ambitious girls. In addition to their study during the school year, these girls are kept busy in the summer working with their projects. They are required to have ninety hours project work which gives them practical experience in their own homes.

The Home Economics and the Agriculture classes plan to entertain their fathers and mothers in the near future. Mrs. Warner, the adviser, is arranging a style show for the girls of the three Home Economics classes.

A trip was taken to Cincinnati in the spring of 1935. In 1936, at the close of the school term, this group went to Dayton, Ohio.

After finishing a Home Economics course, the girls feel that they have accomplished a great deal and are much better prepared for future homemaking.

A. B.

THROUGH the vocational agriculture department, scientific methods in farming are taught, and through the ninety-one projects conducted by the boys many new and better practices are put in use by them.

The Future Farmers of America, an organization of boys interested in agriculture, encourages its members to work hard that they may be advanced to a higher degree. The first year boy takes the Green Hand Degree, and if he qualifies, the second year he receives the Future Farmer's Degree. By much hard work and a good project program, the third year boy may secure the State Farmer's Degree, which is quite an honor. The last and most difficult degree to obtain is the American Farmer's Degree, which only a few boys receive. From this resumé of the work, you will realize that there are many honors to strive for in the F. F. A. organization.

A parent and student night is being planned by the home economics girls and the agriculture boys at which time they will display the results of the projects which are being carried out in these two departments.

An outstanding event on the program of the F. F. A. this year was a tour of the New England States and Canada. The department is purchasing new equipment which is much needed for the new agriculture building. In all of their various activities the F. F. A. boys are supervised by their worthy adviser, L. J. George.

This organization operates under the direction and jurisdiction of the State Highway Patrol and our superintendent, Mr. Furst. The purpose of it is to safeguard the lives of the children against the hazards of traffic. This organization is mainly for the smaller children, yet all high school students are expected to obey the rules. Each member of this patrol has a belt and badge. The captain, Elton Frame, is assisted by the lieutenants, Jack Huffman and James Ramsey. Two members of the patrol are assigned to each bus and their duty is to assist the children at each stop. Also there are two boys assigned to assist children in front of the school house at noon and night while others are assigned to assist the children to the first traffic light. A teacher helps the boys each evening. The Cedarville patrol is considered one of the best in the district.

A. B.

FOR the transportation of country students, the Cedarville Board of Education owns and operates seven buses. The students who come from Clifton are brought by a bus belonging to the Clifton Board of Education, and the Xenia students are transported to Cedarville in a bus owned by Mr. Roscoe Fudge.

Each of the seven buses is a late model, and is equipped with double heaters. The bus drivers, students from Cedarville College, are supervised by Mr. William Fisher who is successfully serving his first year as head of the transportation department. Each driver is required to have a license and to be 21 years of age.

These buses are used for many other things beside the transportation to and from school. During the basketball season "What time does the bus leave?' is a common question heard in the halls. The bus drivers are always willing to cooperate with the school in taking students on trips that are of educational interest.

See those new window shades and channels? Those were installed by the members of the Flying Squadron. These projects just mentioned are not all of their accomplishments. The signal system controlled from the office, connecting all rooms, is another of their achievements. At the beginning of school a moving picture projector was purchased. To complete this project a chart and screen were needed. Again the Flying Squadron came and furnished these items which completed our project.

The purpose of this course is to give a general industrial art training by work on various school projects. Not only does this course give specific training, but also it gives general training in the use of tools. The boys also assemble all their equipment for use in the shop. A sled made by the Flying Squadron was presented to the children of the Greene County Children's Home. Mr. Deem's technical training in the Industrial Arts and his interest in the school and students has greatly aided the progress and success of the course.

SWING TIME

Amid gayly colored decorations and soft lights, the students and faculty met twice this year to swing their troubles away to the tune of Kenneth Little's orchestra. Half of each evening was spent in circle dancing and the remainder in the modern tempo of swing music.

Old-fashioned square dances found their way into the students enjoyment this year. The Home Economics girls and Agriculture boys discovered the real charm of this kind of dance when they held three of these.

THE LITTLE THEATER

There have been three major theater productions this year. During December, the grade children "strutted their stuff", presenting two operettas, "Susanna's Christmas Auction" and "The Land of Mother Goose". The work of these children merited many a smile and the praise, "Well done!" Who knows but that among their number is the star of a high school play in years to come?

"Welcome Home", a comedy, was presented by the worthy juniors early in March. And the moral is "Never try to be what you are not."

The spirit of the class of 1937 waved a magic wand and lo, before our eyes was spread the lovely rose garden of a nineteenth century king. There the sweet, graceful, witty maids of honor primped and preened and guilelessly flirted with sellers of perfume. There the Princess Bulbul gave her heart to the Prince of Peddlers, the Prince Caspian. There also she enarmored the king with her charms, as Alain and Lilla declared their love. So 'tis said "They are going to be married on Tuesday at noon!"

BOOK FOUR

ATHLETICS

Not to be outdone by the girls basketball championship, the girls track team won their first county championship, and records last year. The baseball throw record was captured by Eula Grindle, and the fifty yard dash record by Jean Lane.

The boys track team won second place and established several records.

Even the baseball boys did remarkably well by winning the county championship.

Much of the success of all the sports is due to our Cheerleaders. Every year a few days preceding our first basketball game, the cheerleaders are elected by the students. This year Bill Aiken and Bob Dunevant who were elected, were loyal to the school and team in support. They accompanied their yells with various stunts.

LIVING up to their title of last year, the girls' basketball team of C. H. S. came through a very successful season, being defeated only once. They were winners of the Green County League entitling them to play Beaver Creek, the "runners up" in the Greene County Tournament.

At the tournament, the C. H. S. sextet defended their title by defeating Beaver Creek 25-21. It was a hard game throughout. At the half the score was 13-6 in Cedarville's favor. During the latter half, the game was very close, but the girls, determined to win, came out on top.

The Cedarville girls were quite proud to receive the beautiful first place trophy which was presented to them. Their hard work on the team and loyalty to the school were repaid them by that token.

A BALL is thrown high into the air! A whistle shrills loudly! The Red and White quintet are off to their first victory over South Solon! The boys next defeated in order Silvercreek, Osborn, Bryan, Selma, Bellbrook, Lawrenceville, Bowersville and again Bryan. Then the boys lost a heartbreaker to Ross on their floor by a very small score. They again defeated Silvercreek and Selma before losing the second time to Ross, this time on our home floor. They then closed the season with victories over Beaver and Spring Valley.

At the county tournament, February 25-26-27, C. H. S. lads easily won the first game from Silvercreek. They next defeated Bryan but only after a hard struggle. In the finals they were again beaten by Ross but won the runner-up cup and the right to go to the Sectional Tournament at Springfield.

At the Sectional Tournament the Red and White quintet defeated Urbana before losing on the second night to New Moorefield.

The teams were honored at a banquet held March 22 at the Whitelaw Reid home. —J. R.

MUTUAL INTERESTS

In our room this year are three grades, first, second, and third.

We have studied interesting things about children of other lands and we like to make booklets about them. We have learned about many different animals and birds. We have had a cleanliness and health campaign.

We enjoy the stories and plays on the School of the Air programs. We like the picture shows, too, and are glad that our school has so many nice things for us.

Our Sight-Saving Room is made up this year of students from grades 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, and 12.

We have worked out several very interesting projects this year. On our sand table we built scenes to represent Admiral Byrd's settlement of Little America and a Swiss village. We made several interesting health posters, Thanksgiving posters, and posters of winter sports. Some of the children with ability to draw free-hand have made pictures representing the products of different sections of the United States and these we have mounted on a United States map.

What do you suppose we would do without the radio and the microphone? Well, I'm sure I can't answer that for I really know how essential they are...Jack and Miron are just as inseparable as this picture illustrates. Wonder why they picked this pose!...Roger, Warren, and Laurance—three dignified seniors. These boys are always seen together... Spring!! Dicky, Billy, and Orville are enjoying their first marble game...Although Harold is not in the basketball picture, he's really one of the best players... We are justly proud of our very successful reserve team even though there were a few slip-ups...School is out! Everyone seems to be anxious to go home!... Now this couldn't have been during school hours, could it? Alice and Doris must be talking over their troubles!...Jean's ready for the crack of the gun and she will be off on one of her record breaking dashes! ...Everyone's acquainted with Elizabeth Funsett, even though she's been here only the last semester.... The sextet has been very entertaining throughout the year....Joan is a little first grade girl who is very popular with her classmates and other school children. ...Our last year's girls' track team received the hard-earned first place trophy which helped in the forward march of C. H. S. athletes....These girls and boys are getting ready for a long ride toward home....Joe and Phil—I just wonder why you see them together so much!!!...These two dignified seniors, Betty and Doris, are real friends . . . Betty and Herman are one of the couples frequently seen together at noon . . . We never knew there was so much harmony in the school until Mr. Reed selected Wayne, Laurence, Bill, and Justin with Dorothy as pianist. . . . Another marble game! These high school boys, Charles, Ralph, Junior, and Howard, enjoy their game as well as the smaller boys. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Lombard presented one of the North Central programs. Their musical program was enjoyed by the school. . . . No wonder Mickey's head is swimming—just look at Dorothy Jean Gerhardt. . . . Wonder if Mr. Furst will recognize his car! Juanita seems to be telling Enid a secret! . . . Charlotte and Pud must be looking for that Yellow Springs' special. They do look lonely, don't you think? . . . A group of "giddish girls"—Phyllis, Jane, Thelma, Marcella, and Irene. . . . Of course you will all recognize this couple, Don and Betty Jane. . . . Mr. Furst's untiring secretary. Go ahead Dorothy, we didn't mean to stop you. . . . Here are some of the grade girls who still wear their long curls. . . . The "cleaner uppers," Backy and Bud certainly keep the school looking nice. Especially when we're expecting inspectors. . . . We didn't know that the teachers' conference place was on the outside steps, but it seems as if Miss Allen, Miss Lope, and Miss Haworth chose this place. . . . Mary Jean and Jim just getting to school. What do you bet they're late?

1936-37 Merry-Go-Round

SEPTEMBER

Sept. 6 — First day of school, back to studies we go.
Welcome Miss Haworth, "Bill" Fisher and Aden Barlow.

Sept. 14 — F. F. A. boys at assembly give all the news.
My, My, Marvie, why carry your shoes?

Sept. 16 — Another Freshie Day with Freshies in green
Oh what a terrible sight to be seen!

Sept. 22 — From the study hall window, my what a sight!
An agriculture building being built just right.

Sept. 25 — First senior class meeting of the year,
Is that another argument that we hear?

OCTOBER

Oct. 6 — Lecture on South America by J. L. Clow,
What weird music! Interesting? And how!

Oct. 16 — Annual Cafeteria Supper with plenty to eat,
Such a good program, do you think you'll get a seat?

Oct. 19 — Annual Staff was appointed with care
At the annual's pages we are sure you'll stare.

Oct. 20 — Senior girls dressed up just as nice as they can
Because today they pose for the picture man.

Oct. 21 — Senior boys with ties, what a sight for sore eyes
But when they see those pictures, what a surprise!

Oct. 22 — Group pictures for annual taken to-day.
Is my nose shiny? Is my hair O. K.?

Oct. 30 — While the cat's gone, the mice will play,
Teachers' meeting in Columbus today.

NOVEMBER

Nov. 8 — Annual contest on peace we face,
When David Ramsey wins "first place."

Nov. 12 — Bill Aiken and Bob Dunevant, cheer leaders for the year,
With ability of acrobats and plenty of cheer.

Nov. 13 — Friday the thirteenth, and no bad luck,
High school dance, admire our pluck?

Nov. 17 — Photography club organized tonight.
We wish you luck with all our might!

Nov. 20 — First basketball game, O, what fun!
A very good start 'cause our teams won.

Nov. 20 — My goodness "Gummy" what a scream,
Make a basket for the other team?

Nov. 25 — Oh, my goodness! What a treat!
Thanksgiving vacation and lots to eat.

Nov. 31 — "Oh's" and "Ah's," eyes shining bright.
The new class rings are the juniors' delight.

DECEMBER

Nac. 1 — Senior pictures arrive and not one clown,
No one due for an awful let-down.

Dec. 2, 3 — Groans and moans everywhere
These every-pupil tests get in my hair.

Dec. 4 — Senior meeting, argument number two.
In-vi-ta-tions! They don't know what to do.

Dec. 18 — Congratulations, grades! You did very well,
Everyone says, "The operettas were swell!"

Dec. 23 — Merry Christmas! Happy New Year!
As school lets out, loud shouts we hear.

JANUARY

Jan. 15 — Around the Ohio river, there's a terrible flood,
Thank goodness, we only got stuck in the mud.

Jan. 18, 19 — Exams today! Those words don't tempt,
But if you've worked you'll be exempt.

FEBRUARY

Feb. 9 — "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," a splendid show
How many teachers like that do we know?

Feb. 25-27 — Greene County Tournament on this date.
Our teams always win a high rate.

MARCH

March 12 — Junior class play, a splendid treat,
Wasn't Janette Neal, just too sweet!

March 20 — Orchestra entered the state contest,
We feel sure they'll do their best!

March 22 — Athletic banquet surely was fine,
Eats, talks, and trophies all in line.

March 23 — Although through school they seemed to float,
Honor society members had to ride the goat.

APRIL

April 3 — Nine seniors to scholarship test went.
Neil, Doris, and Warren in first ten per cent.

April 9 — Kenny Little's orchestra with Mickey Post's drum,
At the high school dance, we had lots of fun.

April 14 — To state institutions the seniors take a trip,
Hurray! Some school we get to skip!

MAY

May 14 — Today, the annual county track meet,
Come on, kids! Don't suffer a defeat.

May 13, 14 — Senior operetta now in the air,
With a lot of hard work we'll put it there!

May 21 — Junior and Senior Banquet—a wonderful night,
All those people make a beautiful sight!

May 23 — Baccalaureate Service, we start on and on.
Rev. Ralston preaches the sermon!

May 25 — Commencement! We are leaving, don't you know!
Now really, aren't you sorry to see us go?

May 26 — Last day of school, could that have been a tear?
Don't laugh, remember, it is our last year!

May 28 — Alumni Banquet, all is o'er,
Behind us is that welcoming door.

A Glance Into the Future

AS I was walking down Fifth Aveune, New York City, in the year 1957, I met an old friend of mine, Elisabeth Anderson. Elisabeth informed me that she had been very busy selling advertisements for the Sweetheart Soap Corp.

As we talked, we began reminiscing and wondering what had become of our classmates. We hunted up a fortune teller and as we gazed into her crystal ball each one of our classmates came in view.

We were taken to a broadcasting studio where Laurence Fulkerson was displaying his golden voice. We learned that he had gained world-wide renown as radio's second Nelson Eddy. Following that, we heard the well-known jazz band, "Ned Brown and his Hotsy-Totsys" playing from the Waldorf-Castoria Hotel in Pittsburgh.

A newspaper office loomed in the foreground and lo! who was entering? Justin Northup, the owner if you please! Warren Elam, the editor of Mr. Northup's paper, The New York Weekly, was with him. Warren and Justin's society editor was Miss Mary Jean Townsley while Gwendolyn Bailey's column "Can It Be True" threatened to put Ripley and all the others out of business.

We were then taken by our mysterious host to the laboratories of one of the large universities in the Middle West and whom should we see as the dignified professor of psychology but Neil Hartman. From there, we went to the district attorney's office in Columbus, and who should be there but Reynold Huffman.

We weren't surprised to discover that Charles Jones had become one of America's foremost piano movers, after much practice at heaving the shot in his high school days. Next Donald Sipe, a floorwalker in an elevator, was having his "ups and downs."

A loud commotion was heard outside and we rushed to the scene of action. We were astonished to see our old friend Irma Wakely, standing on a soap-box preaching for the Salvation Army.

After we had recovered from that shock we went back to try to find the rest of our old classmates. We were transferred to London, England, where we confronted Doris Ramsey and Dorothy Kennon busy designing the coronation costume for Princess Elizabeth. Dorothy Galloway, the Emily Post of today, accompanied these two well-known designers to England, and was working hard, making out the rules of etiquette for the next coronation.

A quick change was made and the bright lights of a night club revealed our old friends Harold Bartley, Frances Kersey, and Roger Gasho (alias "The Kerasho Dance Team") were tripping a light, fantastic tango to the music of Clark Post's Melody Makers with Louise Jacobs at the piano.

The Greene County Fair flashed into view and we saw John Fudge, who had entered his famous Chocolate Fudge which is known all over Greene County. By his side Marie Collins, his very efficient helper, having a difficult task trying to keep John out of the "Fudge." Next we were taken to a farm near Cedarville where we found Leroy Shaw, well-known for his Sweet Gooseberries and Pitless Cherries.

We were shocked beyond words to find that Robert Dobbins has become one of the famous gigolos of gay Pareé. Our next classmate to appear was William Burnett who is just finishing reading "Gone With the Wind," the best seller of 1937. We saw Ray Klontz, the leading barker for Dr. Nervine's Medicine Show. In the well-known Woolworth's five and ten, Charlotte Turner was seen frantically dishing out pots and pans by the dozen to her customers. John Hawkins was the floorwalker in this organization.

We were then transferred to Ellis Isle where we observed Elizabeth Funsett and Betty Rowe teaching Oscar Everhart, Junia Creswell and Marjorie Hartman how to speak English after their long sojourn in Europe where they acquired a foreign accent. Enid Hickman was also in Europe, but after playing her harp before millions of people, she is still searching vainly for the millionaire of her dreams. Eugene Miller secretly left for Germany where he was going to aid the Kaiser regain his lost empire. John McCallister seemed to be enjoying himself immensely in Hawaii with his chief hobby—collecting grass skirts.

Ah! The scene changed again and we behold William Aiken, drawing the blueprints for an even greater building than the Empire State Building. Harold Hanna, the retired Olympic star, was seen visiting the former scene of action with his modest wife, the former Alberta Smith, signing all the autographs. The scene changed again to an exclusive shop on Fifth Avenue where we saw Betty Nelson, the proprietor of the shop, Mary Edith Gray, her leading model, was displaying the latest creation in bathing suits.

We were astounded to discover Juanita Harper the air stewardess on the Union-Pacific Airline administering lemons and smelling salts to the poor victims of air sickness. A quick change of scene was made and we saw both Rita Struewing and Virginia Swaney in the office of the General Motors Corp., Dayton, Ohio. A traveler was seen in the globe; it was Alice Pullin, our old pal who had always longed to go places and see things. Martha Jane Martindale, the supervisor of nurses in Johns Hopkins Hospital then appeared in view. We next encountered Arno Pickard of St. Louis, Missouri, a noted dancing teacher, who was dancing her way to Hollywood. Speaking of Hollywood, Doris Truesdale and Eula Grindle were seen there beautifying the movie stars of today.

We weren't surprised to find Ruth Johnston a licensed undertaker with the McMillan-Johnston Funeral Home of Cedarville. When she whizzed back into Cedarville, business increased 50 per cent. We were taken to a farm near Cedarville, and whom should we find to be mistress of the house, but the former Frances Williamson. Marvie West was certainly making a hit with the livestock in Greene County as he was said to be the best veterinarian in the country.

We were astounded to find that Dorothy

OUR MERCHANT FRIENDS

Another high school year is drawing to a close and for the class of 1937 it was very exciting and a year that will long be remembered.

Fondly the student will turn the pages of the 1937 Cedarscope and come upon the section sponsored by our friends, the Merchants.

Every merchant, business concern or specialist listed on these pages has aided greatly in making possible the 1937 Cedarscope and to them the students of Cedarville will give their support and wish them a successful and profitable business year.

LOCKERS

Along the walls,
Row by row,
You'll find the place where the coats all go.
They call them lockers,
Handy things—
Yet I've heard them call them other things.
"This thing won't work."
"Well, try a jerk."
"Oh, there's the bell,
I haven't time."
They sometimes work
They sometimes don't
Some days they will,
Some days they won't.
We all get mad
And then abuse them,
But just the same
We'd hate to lose them!

It was dusk as Frances Williamson stopped at the filling station.

"I want a quart of red oil," she said to the service man. The man gasped and hesitated.

"Give me a quart of red oil," she repeated.

"A quart a red oil?" he stammered.

"Certainly," she said, "my tail light is out."

Miss Robe: Now are there any questions about pronouns?

Jane Jolly: Yes, Miss Robe, do you say "It is me or it is I"?

Miss Robe: Always remember the line, It is I, said the spider to the fly.

Jane: But couldn't you say, It is me said the spider to the flea?

A Glance Into The Future

Stover had very suddenly become interested in foreign affairs and had become the wife of a Russian diplomat. From Russia, we were taken to Dayton, Ohio, where we find Robert Reed, the Chief of Police. We were transferred to a sanitarium in Arizona where we found Edwin Wigginton, winner of 1956 National Bunion Derby, trying to recover from a bad case of fallen arches. At the Ohio State Fair Robert Jameson held the important position as president of the Livestock Association. Robert Beatty was there at the fair conducting a hog calling contest.

Finally, the fortune teller informed us that we must return to the land of reality, as she had exhausted her supply of knowledge in our behalf, and as we had seen the last of our classmates, Elisabeth and I parted. B. S.

"Life is sweet just because of the friends we have made
And the things which in common we share;
We want to live on not because of ourselves,
But because of the people who care.
It's giving and doing for somebody else,
On that all life's splendor depends;
And the joy of the world when you've summed it all up,
Is found in the making of friends."
